

TURNING SCIENCE INTO PRACTICE? Call Aegis.

Aegis Creative delivers the most effective Advisory Board and Educational Services to innovative global biopharmaceutical companies, enabling a superior understanding of new medical therapies at all stages of drug development, from research to product maturation.

OUR COMPANY'S MISSION:

To build a superior understanding of medicine—the science and art dealing with the maintenance of health and the prevention, alleviation, or cure of disease—by providing tools and practices for communication and coordination that educate and enable health care practitioners and patients.

We do this by making offers for Educational Services, Advisory Board Services, and Applied Technology.

TEAM

The Aegis team is committed to producing results through accountability and coordination. The Aegis brand is synonymous with the highest ethical standards because the management team built it that way. We are scientists, clinicians, learning theory experts, graphic artists, medical writers, and technologists. We hold true to the most rigorous standards of excellence and ethics. We demand exacting quality because we respect the seriousness and the urgency of our clients' requirements and their clients' needs.

HISTORY

Founded in 1998, Aegis Creative has unique expertise in the focus areas of hematology, immunology, molecular biology, neurology, oncology, and ophthalmology.

From inception, Aegis has had excellent staff members—people who take their commitment to quality, innovation, and timeliness seriously. The company has a philosophy of taking care of clients by delivering quality projects, on time and within a specified budget.

If you have innovative therapies in any lifecycle stage, we urge you to call Aegis for a briefing on how we can deliver superior results.

Contact Jasmine Martin, VP Education & Advisory Boards Services.
jmartin@aegiscreative.com

Aegis's orientation to client care became recognized by our clients—and a unique and consistent demonstration of competence cemented Aegis's reputation as a high-quality provider committed to scientific and clinical accuracy.

GUARANTEE

Aegis's unwavering commitment to quality and accuracy is evidenced by the company's guarantee. Aegis will repair, redesign, or correct any deliverable at the company's own expense if it is rejected under the conditions that it does not meet objective industry standards, is materially defective, or does not conform to the specifications outlined in the statement of work.

ETHICS & CONFIDENTIALITY

Each Aegis employee holds the promise for customer satisfaction and the company practices commitment-based management to enhance efficiency and effectiveness. The result is that the Aegis team requires minimal orientation and management, increasing the capacity of our clients and dramatically reducing the amount of time required to coordinate with us and review our work.

We take confidentiality very seriously. Each employee is required to read, understand, and sign a rigorous confidentiality agreement that is consistent with those executed at the corporate level. Our keen understanding of the marketplace enables us to hold confidentiality on our client's behalf; we are skilled at distinguishing between established science and proprietary intellectual capital, which means our clients can have the peace of mind that comes with access to the scientific expertise their initiatives require.